MR. GLADSTONE'S ERROR. It is Promptly Taken Advantage of by the Conservatives-Fredicted War.

Lowcox, May 6.—Within both Mr. Gladstone's immediate circle and the rank and file of the Liberal party his refusal to receive the delegates from the workingmen's conterence who desired to present the eight-hour question to him is keenly felt to have been a tactical mistake.
Quick to take advantage of the blunder, the Conservative members of the House of Commons for London held a meeting and decided to influence the government to take the opposite course. The Liberal members also held a special meeting, but they hesitated to take action condemning Mr. Gladstone. They, therefore, referred the matter to a committee with instruc-

THE CONCORD IN THE MISSISSIPPI Her Presence Causes Much Excitement

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Helena, Arr., May 5.—The man-of-war Concord, en route to Memphis to attend the bridge celebration, reached here last evening and was accorded a rousing reception. She will leave to-day for the Bluff City, but the city mill saturday morning, when she will resume her voyage northward. The arrival of the cruiser—the first seen in thirty years—caused much excitement among the negroes, and the report was circulated that she had been sent there by Unde Sain to convey all the colored people to Oklahoma. No PROGRESS.

These figures indicate that practically no progress has been made in securing the assent to the plan of the underlying security-holders.

The committee simply decided to extend the time for the deposit of Richmond Terminal securities under a penalty of 2 per cent on the cost to May 18th. The time for deposits of underlying securities is extended to the same date without penalty.

CHICAGO, LLL., May 6.—Rain-storms without parallel in recent years have prevailed throughout the western country for the past two days and the amount of damage done is enormous. Traffic on the Rock Island mad between Joliet and the Mississippi river las been suspended owing to numerous washouts along that portion of the line, with the result that the entire system is practically tied up. All through trains coming east have to stop at Davenport and Rock Island, and west-bound trains will not attempt to move out of Chicago before this morning. At Joliet hundreds of families had to quit their homes and go to the bluffs, fearful that the dam would go out in which case the middle of the city would be placed under water. The factories there have from one to nine feet of water in them. MEMPHIS, TENN., May 6.—At a general meeting of the stockholders of the Tennessee Midland railroad, held here to-day, the stockholders unanimously approved and authorized the execution of mortgages securing issues of $11,000 per mile of first-mortgage 5 per cent bonds, and $0,000 per mile of second-mortgage 5 per ent. bonds, in lieu of the present authorized sense, reducing the bonded indebtedness of the ompany by $10,000 per mile. The resignations of all the present members of the board of firectors were accepted, and the stockholders lected the following board: John T. Davis, W. Huse, Alva Mansur, T. H. West, T. J. Moss, and James Hallen, of St. Louis, A. S. Buford and L. Traylor, of Richmond, Va.; John Overton, r. D. T. Porter, and T. J. At the meeting yesterday of the subcommittee of the City Committee charged with investigating the Jefferson-Ward frauds Mr. Steve Chasa testified that he was called in at the Second Precinct the night of the election and straightened out the tickets into piles after they had been tailied. He did not examine the tickets to see if they had been called out correctly. He thought he was with honest peo-

ly. He thought he was with honest people and the necessity of looking into what they were doing did not occur to him. He saw nothing to excite his suspicion. He was sorry he ever got into the room, but wanted to see the committee go to the bottom of the matter, as the charges reflected on every one who was connected with the prectuct.

Mr. John K. Malloy, Jr., said he was at the Third Precinct, Jefferson Ward, after 1:30 or 2 o'clock on the day of the primary. He saw nothing wrong during the day. After the polls were closed he saw Botto come out of his place of business. Witness asked Botto where he was going, and he replied that he was going into the poll

MR. BOTTO'S TESTIMONY

MR. Botto's IESTIMONY.

Mr. Botto said be was around the Third Precenct about half the day. He was not behind the rail in the poll during the day, but was in the poll at night. He and Mr. Perdue did not "set horses." He saw the registration-book lying on the counter when he voted, which was early in the morning. Heretofore the registration-book and always been checked. He noticed nothing out of the regular order during the day.

The testimony of Mr. Botto as to how the ballots were emptied out of the box and counted and talhed did not differ materially from that of the witness who had preceded him. Witness said he tore up the surplus ballots drawn out of the box and handed to him by Mr. Perdue. One of the ballots was marked with red ink. Pretty soon he went to sleep, and what was done after that he did not know. Witness's wife retused to sell Roysteranything to drink because she thought he had enough, and witness himself thought he had more than a man ought to carry.

est, and if he had caught any one tampering with the ballot-box he would have struck at them like a snake. There was no ill feeling between Mr. Perdue and himself, but he worried the old man too much, and they always got at loggerheads about election times. Witness did not know how the ballots that were not entitled to be in the box got there. He believed that parties could get on the blind side of Mr. Perdue (that is the side on which his sight is defective) and vote illegally, but as far as integrity was concerned the party could not get a better man.

The witness treated the matter of the burying of the ballot-box as a joke, and said the story was gotten up by Cannon to worry a man hamed Bain. Witness also stated that Mr. Perdue had been misunderstood about the back door leading out of the polls. It did not lead into witness's place.

Mr. Ed. Fagan testified that he was at the Third Precinct during the day and in the poil after it was closed. He saw nothing wrong during the day or at night. His description of the count and tally of the the vote agreed with that of other witnesses. He did not hear the name of any illegal voters called out. He could throw no light on the frauds. If he could the the committee he would willingly do so. Old man Perdue sat in the poil all night and did the best he could to see that everything was going on all right.

At the conclusion of Mr. Fagan's testimony Chairman Harrison read a letter from Mr. Henry Cohn, saying that as he had not been allowed the privilege of hearing the testimony against him before the committee he did not think, after due consideration, that in justice to himself he should be called before the body again.

At the request of Mr. Cohn the committee had set yesterday as the time for resuming the hearing in his case. Efforts were made to get Mr. Cannon and Sheriff Cates before the committee. Mr. Botto stated that Mr. Cannon said he would not come, and the sergeant at-arms reported Mr. Cates sick in bed.

The sub-cotamittee will hear no more testimony, but make their report to the City Committee Tuesday night upon the basis of the evidence already taken. A LETTER FROM MR. COHN.

follows: La Malade, Miss Grace Landran; Two

Miss Mamie Carruthers.

The acting of the young laties was highly the others.

A delightful feature of the entertainment was the singing of Miss Carrie May Cox, of North Carolina. She was heartily encored, and her response won even greater applicase. The "Norwegian Bridal Procession" was executed on the plane by Miss Belle Lynne, of this city, in a man-which was cleverly interpreted by Mr. Clarke and Miss Adeila Sawyer.

The second play was Jerome K. Jerome's poetic little sketch "The Violin-Maker." There are few more charming things than this. Of plot there is little, but the story is sweet and very pathetic, and in the hands of strong actors might be made very effective. It is simple plays like this that test dramatic talent most severely, because there are no sensational climaxes or other stage tricks to divert the attention of the audience from the true merit of the play and the players; and young Clarke, clever as he is, showed his instility to deal with the dine lines and delicate sentiment of the touching little comedy. Of the company only Miss Sawyer came anywhere near a really intelligent conception of the play.

In the afterplece, "Poor Pillicody," Mr. Clarke and his supporters brought out brightly all of the intense lapmer which permeates this well-known farce, and sent the audience away highly pleased.

known farce, and selfs the pleased.

Wilfred Clarke is a comedian of much merit, but he is hardly ripe enough to undertake anything beyond light roles, and would do well to play parts now that show him at his best.

This afterneon the bill will be "The Violin-Maker" and "A Runaway Match," and to-night there will be another triple bill: "A Happy Pair," "One Touch of Nature," and "Toodles."

There was not a more honest man in the city than old man Ferdue, Mr. Botto continued. Mr. Ferdue would not, declared the witness, stoop to do anything dishonest, and if he had caught any one tamperate, and if he had caught any one tamperate, which was not finished on Thursday, Favor which was not finished on Thursday, Favor with the ballot-box he would have struck at them like a snake. VARIOUS PRESS COMMENT.

To-morrow the Speaker (Liberal) will put a finger on a weak spot in the Liberal position by saying that the enemies of home rule, despairing of success by open attacks, meditate an operation on the flank in seeking to divert the attention of the Liberal masses from the Irish question, and thus convert a certain victory into a rout. An expression of this ominous importance coming from the Gladistonean organ is suggestive of the strong niarm that prevails lest the party be wrecked on the labor difficulty before Lord Salisbury's steps are known.

The Times published a rare laudation of Mr. Gladstone for refusing to involve himself in a discussion on the eight-hour question. The Times upheld his conduct as a model for imitation by weak-kneed people, and the effort of leaders to extort pledges at this stage of the movement was dehard race—six turongs—or into id second, Pat King third. ANGLO-AMERICAN NOTES.

Mr. Fithian's free-ship bill and the report that the Inman Line will build two ships in America are causing considerable discussion in English shipping circles. The first effect of the passage of the Fithian bill, according to English opinion, will be to advance the value of English tramp screw steamers, many of which will replace the wooden side-wheel steamers now engaged in the American coasting trade. A subsequent result will be that some of the large Atlantic lines will be put under the American flag.

A report on the Birmingham gun trade shows an increase of 8 per cent, in the number of barrels proved during the year the McKinly tariff has been in operation over the previous year. American importers are supposed to have found a way to evade the tariff by taking the gun materials in parts.

THE LIBERALS HARASSED.

This criticism does not affect the satisfaction of Conservatives over the policy of their leaders, who are now obviously harassing the Liberals and attracting toward the government a strong body of workingmen. The official Unionist paper declares that the action of Mr. Giadstone has chilled to the core the hearts of workingmen who were once warm towards him. It axids that the workingmen must apparently sacrifice everything and wait on Mr. Giadstone's convenience until he thinks the question rotten-rine, when he will step in and proclaim his support. This the workingmen refuse to do.

THE LIBERAL OUTLOOK. A pretence of secrecy enwrapped the conference of Liberal election agents, but there was nothing of a startling nature to hide. Schnadhorst, at the close of the conference, in summing up the reports, of the same and the second that the general election will give the Liberals a majority of 77 in the hext House, and held that the labor complications would exert only a minor influence.

Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, in conversing with the agents, stated that the elections were certain to be held at the opening of July, following the Ulster convention at Belfast and the All-Ireland Unionist convention at Dublin in June. The Orange lodges, Sir William asserted, are privately subscribing money for the purchase of arms to carry out their threats to rebel rather than submit to an Irish Parliament.

Whether or not the Tories really and sincerely believe that an armed conflict would follow the establishment of an Irish Parliament, they assume the sincerity and cultivate the belief that civil war would be the outcome of home-rule.

Mr. McDonnell, Lord Salisbury's private segment, has written to an Oxford elegan.

Mr. McDonnell, Lord Salisbury's private secretary, has written to an Oxford clergy-man that "his lordship is glad to see you impress upon the electors the probability that home rule would produce that great-est of all curses—a religious civil war." Atter this it is no wonder to hear of men drilling in Ireland and that rifles and mu-nitions of war are being stored in Eng-land. ANGLO-AMERICAN NOTES.

You may bridle the appetite but you cannot bridle the liver to do its work well. You must be honest with it, help it along a little now and then with a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator. The liver becomes sluggish sometimes and needs some stimulation to keep off those attacks of indigestion and biliousness. A good active liver promotes digestion and prevents maleria.
